NATIONAL FUNERAL DIRECTORS WILL VISIT BEACHES AND FOOTHILLS

While in San Francisco last week in connection with the California Elks' convention, Mr. C. O. Pulliam, of the Pulliam Undertaking company, had the opportunity to attend the State Funeral Directors' association which met in San Francisco about the same time. After the state meetings were over Mr. Pulliam attended the National Funeral Directors' convention, which also met in San Francisco.

Much that was of deep interest to funeral directors was transacted at the National convention. The general object of the association being to keep the business on as clean and elevated a platform as possible. Considerable emphasis was laid on the fact that the public must get the right kind of treament at the time when their sorrow and preoccupation with other matters lays them open to the imposition of the unscrupulous.

"The object of the association," said Mr. Pulliam, who is a member of the Southern California association, the State association and also the National association, "is to secure good treatment of the public by the undertakers, to surround the business with safeguards and regulations that will safeguard both the undertaker and his patrons. The association deals with complaints of violations of the regulations governing the business and any infringement of them means expulsion from the association and the loss of its protection and privileges.

"The national association members left San Francisco Sunday night and arrived in Los Angeles this morning. This afternoon I will take my auto in to Los Angeles and so will the other members of the Southern California association and we will drive our visitors to the beaches. Tuesday at 9 a. m. we will take them on a trip through the orange belt, through Pomona and Monrovia. On the way back the visitors will be taken to lunch at the Pasadena hotel; thence through Glendale to Hollywood and back to Los Angeles by 5 p. m.

"I am the only member of the National association and the Southern California association in Glendale. The association is not a "trust" in any sense of the term. When you read about the "funeral directors' trust" in the newspapers you may know it is either a joke or a piece of ignorance. The only object the funeral directors of the country have in uniting in an asociation is to better conditions for the benefit of the public. They never interfere with prices nor attempt to regulate them. Last year the association met in New Orleans; this year in San Francisco; next year it will meet in some other great city."

AUTO ACCIDENT

While driving along San Fernando road Friday in the vicinity of the Taylor Milling company, which is within the Los Angeles city limits, F. W. Kenney, 809 W. Fifth street, ran into a man who was on the way to Los Angeles. At a turn in the road the man's figure suddenly appeared. Mr. Kenney swerved his auto quickly to one side to avoid the pedestrian and struck the porch of an old store, breaking the two stair posts. The car, however, struck the man and threw him to the ground. Mr. Kenney picked him up and took him home, where he was found to be suffering a little from the fall. His name and address are unknown.

GUILD LADIES BUSY

Mrs. C. I. Mills entertained at the rectory, 515 So. Central avenue, on last Wednesday the Woman's guild of St. Mark's church. Over twenty ladies were present. The afternoon was spent making many articles for the bazaar to be held in December. Miss Mattiebelle Provolt and Miss Lillian Mills assisted in serving dainty refreshments.

The guild meets this week Wednesday in the Guild hall of the church for an all-day session, with a basket lunch. All the ladies of the church and congregation are cordially invited to be present.

DECORATING POLICE QUARTERS

When the painting and decorating of police headquarters is finished the old room will be quite brightened up. The walls are being tinted and the ceiling in similar fashion, the woodwork is being freshened up and when all is done there will be quite a change in the old place. The work is being done by Jacob Fink, 218 S. Maryland street.

AGED PASTOR DIES

REV. WILLIAM GILLESPIE PASSES AWAY SUNDAY AT HIS HOME, 803 W. FIFTH

With the death of the Rev. William Gillespie, who entered into his rest, at his late residence, 803 W. Fifth street, Sunday, there passes out of the life of Glendale one who in his time was a figure of some prominence in the service of the Presbyterian church. Mr. Gillespie was born in Scotland, where he was a Presbyterian minister for a short time. He came to this country when he was in his prime and took up the work of the church in North Dakota, where he labored faithfully for many years.

After this missionary work he came to California where he held other small posts and finally gave up the active work of the ministry, coming to Glendale to live. While in Glendale he attended the Presbyterian church and assisted the Rev. Dr. Edmonds on several occasions. The last occasion of this sort was about four years ago, when he gave his services in connection with the dedicatory services of the church.

Mr. Gillespie was a man of sterling character, fearless disposition and admirable rectitude of conduct. He had been brought up in all the sterness and uncompromising faith of the Scotch Presbyterian faith. He held himself close to that faith all his days and was a striking example of what excellence such belief gives to life. His knowledge of the Bible was of that thorough character which is so seldom found in the modern church. He could quote long chapters of the Old and New Testaments by heart and always had an apposite quotation from Holy Writ for any situation.

Toward the close of his days the old pastor was afflicted with some affection of the brain, which made him dull and apathetic. This weakening of his faculties was painfully visible at times and manifested itself in a wandering disposition, which gave his friends much alarm. His end came somewhat easily after his long and heroic struggle with failing faculties. He leaves to mourn his loss a daughter, Mrs. Donald McIver, of Pasadena and a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

The funeral will take place from Mr. Gillespie's late residence, 803 W. Fifth street, Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. The Rev. E. Edmonds, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Glendale, will officiate. The Jewel City Undertaking company will have charge of the funeral arrangements and the interment will be in Forest Lawn.

RECKLESS DRIVING

Before Judge Whomes Monday morning, Walter Lea of Los Angeles was brought, charged with reckless driving on Colorado Boulevard. Chief of Police Herald testified that Lea was driving at a speed very much higher than that authorized by the ordinance. The judge fined him $3.

Immediately after Lea had been disposed of, Fred Bittle of Tropico was brought before the court charged with reckless driving on Broadway on Sunday. It was shown that Bittle was exceeding the speed. The judge fined him $5.

Chief Herald says that since the city relaxed its hold on the speeding tourists who pass through Glendale there has been a great increase in the number of automobiles that pass through the city at a high rate of speed. The two automobils whose owners were fined this morning were racing so fast that the police motorcycle could not catch them. All the police could do was to take their numbers. The chief intends to ask for the stationing of a motor patrolman on Colorado boulevard to put an end to this practice of racing through the city to the danger of the people.

HOLLISTER DANCE SUCCESS

To the enlivening strains of Imes' orchestra more than 200 pleased people swayed in the rhythmic measure of the waltz or moved in livelier fashion in the tango, one-step, two-step and other modern dances, at the dance given Saturday evening in Butler's hall, Tropico. Prof. T. B. Hollister's dancing class was present and was conspicuous in the dances by their up to dateness and thorough acquaintance with the dances. This most enjoyable dance came to an end at a reasonable hour and everyone went home delighted with the manner in which everything had been managed. Next Saturday night prizes will be given at the dance.

TOUR OF MANY STATES

MR. SALO DESKY SEES NUMEROUS CITIES DURING VACATION —LIKES GLENDALE BEST

Returning from a three months' tour of several states Mr. and Mrs. Salo Desky, 139 S. Kenwood, find Glendale still the most homelike and delightful place of all. They left Glendale on a tour to the middle west July 26 and got back Oct. 14. During all that time they had no weather to compare with what is the ordinary daily lot of this favored spot.

"When we left Glendale in the end of July," said Mr. Desky to a representative of the Glendale Evening News, "we went straight to Minneapolis, where we spent a short time. What astonished us most there was the extraordinary number of new buildings and the many-storied skyscrapers that were being erected. Minneapolis is the center of a large district of wealthy farmers. Those people have had season after season of bumper crops and money simply flowed in on them. They invest a portion of this wealth in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

"Those two towns, old rivals, are gradually growing together. Between them they have about half a million inhabitants and more, probably nearer 600,000. We visited friends and acquaintances there and had a pleasant time in pleasant surroundings.

"From Minneapolis we went to Fergus Falls, about 177 miles northwest of Minneapolis, and there we found our relatives in the old home. The old home town looked good to us. It has now grown to a place of 8000 people. It has also many new buildings. All around the district is in good condition. The crops have been good for many years, stock raising has paid well and everybody is prosperous.

"Thence we went to Grand Forks, North Dakota; thence to Glacier National park, Montana. That was one of the most beautiful spots in all our itinerary. It is, I think, the most beautiful spot for grand scenery I have ever seen. From Glacier park we went to Spokane, the great capital of eastern Washington. There we found a fine, clean, well-kept city, quiet and bravely striving to weather the bad times. From Spokane we went on westward to Seattle, the wonderful gateway to Alaska and the Orient. Alaska is quiet and appears subdued. Business has been very poor there recently and as it was a boom town people are now paying the penalty of former inflated prices and also of the extraordinary expenditure caused by the leveling of the city's hills and the grading of the whole site. This, we were told, had ruined quite a number of people. Notwithstanding the fine new 42-story Smith building Seattle, did not look very prosperous.

"We came down the coast to the beautiful city of Portland, where we noted a singular feature—the city has no alleys. From Portland, which appeared dull from a business point of view, we went on to San Francisco and saw the fair. This pleased us a good deal, but it was not entirely a novelty as we have seen many expositions.

"Wherever we went we found very poor weather. In Minneapolis they told us they had had only six weeks of summer. Seattle was rainy and so was Portland. San Francisco was devastated by cold winds. We came back to Glendale delighted with the dear old place and it lived up to its reputation and welcomed us with a blaze of sunshine."

FROM THE FIREMEN

Delighted with the support the public gave them in the recent contest for the piano offered by the Southern California Music company the firemen of Glendale wish to make known their sincere sense of the kindness and sympathy shown them by their large number of supporters. From first to last there was a readiness to help their cause and genuine understanding of their needs that demonstrated that the public fully understands the work they have to do, and how much of it consists of patient waiting and watching. In return they can only promise a continuance of their watchfulness and a promptitude of service that may benefit the city.

MORE ABOUT RURAL CREDITS

As the voters of California are to be asked to decide as to the advisability of providing rural credits that may assist the farmer in his effort to develop his land, harvest and move his crops, without having to pay a ruinous interest for the money he may borrow, if he is permitted to borrow any, the more the voter learns about the subject the better. The establishing of rural credits in a proper manner is a matter of vital interest to a state like California, where so much depends on the prosperity of the farming communities.

It is interesting, in the first place, to remember that Germany, that most thoroughly paternal of all countries, has fostered and built up a wonderful agricultural community in every district by means of "farm credits." The German government gives state loans to farmers at the low rate of interest, 5 per cent, and the loans run for two years. This system has made the German farmers comparatively well to do and has made the country self-sustaining, in so much that at present when Germany is cut off by sea from outside grain, almost entirely, it is still able to live on what it raises in its own fields.

Much is always said about the big crops the farmers have. Government reports tell of the wonderful amount of corn and grain that is being raised all over the country. That amount is bigger this year than it has ever been in the history of the country; and yet from the wheat belt of the middle states come stories of renters on farms having to lower their standard of living in order to stay on earth. "One reason for this," says a Nebraska farmer, "is that the small farmer has been living only by means of short loans at 10 per cent. His notes become due on the first of January, which is another drawback, while the third is that his rent is too high."

According to this authority a very large proportion of the farmers are in debt to the banks. The fact that their notes become due January 1 forces them to rush their grain to market to pay off the notes. Then the grain speculators force down the prices and keep them down until the crop is in their hands. Then the price goes up. In many cases it costs 31 cents to raise a bushel of corn, while the price received at the grain elevator is from thirty-five to thirty-seven cents.

Should the farmers of California be able to get money as low as 5 or even 6 per cent it would be the saving of many of them from bankruptcy. The object of the rural credits is to provide the farmers with the necessary money at a reasonable rate. It is also intended to keep them out of the power of the speculator and usurer, into whose hands a large number of farms pass every year.

When the necessary power has been given the legislature to deal with this subject a proper system will be devised and the aid thus given by the state will enable the farmer to expand into the proportions of a free man. This will be beneficial to the man an to the state also.

WAR ON ZYMOTIC DISEASE

Much good is being done throughout the state by the new Bureau of Sanitary Engineering. It insures valuable co-operation between the state and the individual communities of California, for instance, for the suppression of sources of typhoid infection, through purification of contaminated water supplies and improved methods of sewage disposal. Every farmer throughout California is being aroused to the necessity of protecting his own family and the community in general from the risk of infection.

Each farm and ranch is now compelled to have a proper sanitary method for the disposal of human wastes so that streams may not be contaminated and milk cans and milk supplies be not exposed to infection. Typhoid is primarily a country and small-town disease, because large cities take more care to have clean water and adequate systems of sewage disposal. There are two rural counties in the interior of California, for example, that have an annual death rate from typhoid eight times as heavy as that of San Mateo county, to take a standard example. The chief reason for this is because the sources of water supply in San Mateo county have been better protected from the danger of pollution. The towns of that county are not permitted to pour their sewage into the streams from which other people must take their drinking water.

When the new chief engineer and director of the Bureau of Sanitary Inspection began his professional work he spent several years in filtration experiments for the People's Water company of Oakland. Then he aided in the designing and building of the huge swimming pool on the campus of the University of California. Then he went east, participated in the designing of the filter plant for the water supply of Minneapolis and had charge of the designing of a water plant filtration for Evanston, Illinois. Recently he returned to Sacramento to design a sewage screen system for the treatment of sewage from the annexed districts and from certain older portions of the city of Sacramento.

In Sacramento the new sanitary engineer will have ample opportunity to handle the question of dealing with typhoid and other zymotic diseases from the standpoint of good water and a good sewage system. It may be expected that the results of his experiments will benefit the whole state.

SOME ASPECTS OF BUSINESS

Much interest is attached to the recent half billion dollar loan effected by the allies in the United States. Ultimately it is believed the United States will get it all back. There is such a thing as having too much gold. Everyone remembers how embarrasing to Midas was the "golden touch." Everything he touched turned to gold. He could not eat gold nor drink gold, so the wretched king was starving in the midst of plenty. In similar manner the United States since the war has been turning everything it touched into gold. It suffered from a plethora of gold—at least its capitalists did. They could not eat gold nor drink gold, so perforce they had to lend it. They must have customers and their customers must have money to buy or there would be a stagnation.

Thus one of the first effects of the great loan will be to stimulate the exports of goods from the United States to Great Britain and allied governments. Shipments of foodstuffs have been enormous and there is no doubt they will be considerably augmented by the placing of this loan in the United States. Shipments of munitions to the allied countries have also been increasing on an enormous scale. The big credit will have the effect of increasing the export figures to a new record mark. That is the present effect. What the future will bring is a matter of serious specu'ation.

PREVENTION OF STRIKES

Strikes cost the United States millions of dollars every year. They are the curse of all industry. In every department of productive life they are a constant menace. Sometimes, as in Colorado, they rise to the seriousness of civil war. Corporations like the United States Steel corporation solved the problem to a certain extent by permitting employes to become shareholders. Even with this precaution there have been times when there was imminent danger of trouble with the many thousand employes of this big concern.

In the midst of all the debating about the best means of handling the problem comes the account of a firm that has solved it. The Lukens Iron and Steel company of Coatesville, Pa., has been in business more than a century. During all those one hundred years it has never had a strike and never a serious difference with its workers. It owns a very large establishment. Its owners are Quakers. They will not take a contract from the United government unless assured that the iron or steel is not to be used in war vessel or a weapon of offense.

This firm has always paid its employes a just wage and even given them part of the profits which they helped to earn. It has many other interesting features by means of which it has maintained peace and harmony with its employes since the days of 1776, when it worked its plant with water power to these days of electric motors.

There is another concern in New York and New Jersey, started 110 years ago, which has on its payroll men who have been in its employment 50 years, and during all its existence has never had a strike. The methods which have produced these phenomena have simply been justice, honesty, kindliness, recognition of faithful and efficient service, whereas the principle and practice of too many of the modern business firms have been those of Gehazi, "Peradventure I shall take somewhat of him."

RESPONSIBILITY OF PARENTS

In this day of free speech when prudently good men continue to take license of that freedom to disseminate false teaching among indifferent parents, as well as their unfortunate children; in this generation of alleged Christianity when we cannot help but see the anarchy among so-called (by themselves) civilized nations, a chaos which he that hath eyes to see must perceive to be the harvest—a most abundant harvest—of the seed of war which was planted in the heart of the child; in this age of abuse and hate among men, kindly permit me to direct attention to the teaching of the Prince of Peace contained in his gospel of love and manifested to men by the simple act of forgiveness; for that wonderful command to us, his disciples, to forgive, runs like a golden thread, either expressed or implied, all through the gospel, the glad tidings of peace and harmony among men which Jesus the Christ brought to the knowledge of man.

This also being a day set apart for the giving of ultimatums, it is proper for me to ask those of my fellowmen who are so fortunate as to have little children, what would you do in the event your little daughter who is not yet three years old but is possessed of that wonderful gift of God, an indomitable will, what would you do, pray tell us, in case that lovable child of yours is willing to and does accept any punishment rather than obey your arbitrary command? Now such an ultimatum from a child to a man is a real ultimatum, for the man himself must suffer if he is so unfortunate as to give the child a wrong answer to her ultimatum—he is held in the grip of natural law, and he cannot by act of congress nor ukase of an emperor shift the punishment from himself to those who are not guilty. Do you wish to know, are you anxious to learn the correct answer to your little daughter's ultimatum? If so, then I am pleased to refer you to a careful and an entirely unprejudiced study of the Book of Truth—the gospel of Christ, and, that you may not be misled, I most earnestly caution you not to seek the truth on this important question in any of the other books of the Bible.

Now no matter how diligently you may seek a confirmation of our erroneous idea that the child must obey its father or mother, you will not be able to find either law or command or teaching in that book of truth that the child shall obey its earthly parents. God has never given any man authority to compel his child to obey him. But that book of truth does teach us (if we are willing to learn the lesson) how we may so live that our children will be impelled to do as we wish them to do; if we are willing to learn the wonderful lesson, we can find in that book how to so treat our little ones that it will be impossible for them voluntarily and wittingly to do those things at which we have a right to be displeased. Kindly permit me to state a few of the texts which Christ uses to teach us our lesson regarding children, namely:

"Take heed that ye despise not one of these little ones." Matt. 18:10.

"It is not the will of your father which is in heaven that one of these little ones should perish." Matt. 18:14.

"Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of God." Luke 18:16.

"Verily I say unto you, whosoever shall not receive the kingdom of God as a little child he shall not enter therein." Mark 10:15.

"Verily I say unto you, except ye be converted and become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven." Matt. 18:3.

"It were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and he cast into the sea, than that he should offend one of these little ones." Luke 17:2.

Jesus the Christ would have us understand that our little children are in the kingdom of heaven, and that it is not for us to lead them into the kingdom, but to keep them there by that love and forgiveness which is taught in his gospel. He would have us comprehend the truth that it is through our attitude of despising and by our acts which offend our little children that they are driven out of the kingdom of heaven (into which they were born) and perish; that it is by our refusal to do the will of God that our children are led astray and some of them perish, for it is not the will of God that even one child should perish. Christ would have us learn the wonderful lesson that, instead of we being able to lead little children into the kingdom of heaven we must permit them to lead us into that kingdom, we must learn to become as little children are else we cannot enter the kingdom of God.

I fully realize that all the above seems foolishness to those who are so wise in their own conceit as to associate only with those who approve of their wisdom; but I would refer these wise people to the 10th chapter of Luke and ask them to ponder the verse:

"In that hour Jesus rejoiced in spirit, and said, I thank thee, O Father, Lord of Heaven and earth, that thou hast hid these things from the wise and prudent and hast revealed them unto babes; even so, father, for so it seemed good in thy sight."

BROTHERHOOD MEETING

It is expected that much interest and amusement will be afforded those who attend the meeting of the Brotherhood of the First Congregational church, which will be held in conjunction with the women of the congregation Monday evening. The feature of the evening will be a debate on the subject, "When Singleness Is Bliss it Is Folly to be Wives.' The affirmative will be taken by Mrs. George E. Adams and Mrs. E. H. Willisford and the negative by Mr. A. R. Chappell and Mr. Ralph W. Beers. Variety will be given to the evening by many pleasing instrumental and vocal numbers. Refreshments will be served. This will be an open meeting and the public is cordially invited. There will be no charge for admission.

Now is the time that buildings should be repaired that they may be in condition to withstand the coming rains. Also gullies and waterways should be cleaned out on the public streets and elsewhere.

THE FOOTHILL CLUB

Some months ago a number of ladies residing in that beautiful section of this community lying just at the foot of the mountains organized a club for social purposes and called it the Foothill club. They met regularly once a month last season and many were the happy afternoons enjoyed at the homes of the various members. Now since the vacation season has closed the club will meet again regularly. The first meeting of the season was held Friday afternon when Mrs. W. W. Stone and Mrs. Jos. McMillan were hostesses at the palatial McMillan home on Mountain street. This very pleasant meeting seemed to augur well for the coming season. The home was decorated in gala attire for the occasion, the beautiful colored grasses being used in the living room and Madame Chatnay roses in the dining room. Five hundred was the game of the afternoon and the ladies applied themselves assiduously to this fascinating amusement. Mrs. Elliott Wyman was the successful player and won for her skill a beautiful embroidered centerpiece. Mrs. G. K. Barnes made the second highest score and was the recipient of a handsome Madiera tray cloth.

One of the features of the afternoon was a stroll through the wonderful grounds of the McMillan home. These are very spacious and beautifully laid out and best of all command a panoramic view of the valley that is beyond description. The ladies felt that this was a very pleasant part of the afternoon's entertainment.

A three-course luncheon was most daintily served at small tables. Mrs. Richard L. Phister, retiring from the presidency of the club, Mrs. William S. Porter was elected to fill her place.

The members of the Foothill club are Mesdames Jos. McMillan, William S. Porter, Charles H. Toll, Alexander Mitchell, William T. Thompson, N. C. Kelley, Julius Kranz, Menzo Williams, Richard L. Phister, Chas. Richter, Elliott Wyman, Everette Barnes, G. K. Barnes, Alfred Priest. L. D. Oliver, G. E. Larkey, Andrew Robinson, Walter J. Elliott, W. W. Stone and Miss Ellen Williams.

The Chamber of Commerce would like to invite every business man living in Glendale to be present at a meeting on Tuesday evening, October 19th, at 7:30 p. m. This is an important matter to you and you should attend this meeting.

ONLY ONE BOND ISSUE

Only one bond issue, the $2,850,000 proposal for good roads will appear on the ballot on Tuesday of next week. The flood control bonds could not be legally submitted at this election. The proposal will probably come up at a special election in January or February, unless the supervisors decide upon the plan of submitting them at the presidential primary in May. Supervisor Hamilton favors the earlier date but there is opposition to a separate election for this purpose. The city of Los Angeles also found that its five bond proposals for local purposes could not be placed on the ballot at this election and will probably submit them all later.

HOUSEHOLD RECIPES

Clear Soup

Four pounds of shin of beef, two pounds of knuckle of veal. Cut the meat off the bones in pieces about a quarter of a pound each, and break the bones in fouror five pieces. Have the bones in four or five pieces. Have ounce of butter, let it just warm, then place the meat at the bottom of the pot, with the bones. Let this fry very slowly for 1½ hours, turning the meat two or three times till it is nicely browned. It must not be allowed to burn, and the pot must be kept covered. The bottom of the pot should be covered by a rich thick gravy. Now add to it five quarters of boiling water, let it boil, then throw in a teacupful of cold water to accelerate the rising of the scum. If this operation is repeated three times, it should make a clear consomme.

Have ready two carrots, two turnips, two onions stuck with two cloves, one head of celery, two leeks, one ounce of salt, a faggot of herbs weighing about one ounce and consisting of parsley, thyme, marjoram, tarragon. Put these all in the soup and allow it to simmer four or five hours. Strain and leave to cool for use. When cold, carefully remove all fat. The meat from this stock will bear another addition of water, about three quarts, and will boil again for common soup.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

There was a good congregation assembled Sunday morning. Rev. Edmonds took up again his discourses upon the Seven Churches, his topic being the sixth in the series, the church of Philadelphia, the text being Rev 3:8, "I know thy works; behold I have set before you an open door and no man can shut it." The Lord knew the work of the churches, he commended that in them which was good and pointed out their short comings. The Christian always finds the open door, efforts of men to close it always have been in vain. Spurgeon in London and Moody in Chicago both had experience with the efforts of men to close the door, but it remained open and their efforts in spite of great opposition prevailed. The church has thrived on persecution and the crown is always for those who overcome. Ancient Philadelphia had a name that signified Brotherly Love, but there was sin in the city and in the church. There are only two foundation stones on which the Christian character can stand, holiness and truth. The Lord spoke of those who claimed to be Jews, but were not; it is not enough that your name be upon the church, you must be like the master, holy and true. The Lord tells his people to hold fast and this advice was never more applicable than at present when so many people seem inclined to drift, to spend their efforts in running after "isms." The thing for us to do is to ask ourselves, am I an overcomer or overcome? "Him that overcometh I will make a pillar and will write upon him the name of our Lord."

CLUB MEMBERS INVITED

The corresponding secretary of the Tuesday Afternoon club is in receipt of an invitation which she is requested to extend to all members of the club. The invitation is from the Woman's Improvement club of Huntington Park, who will hold their first flower show in the club house on Pacific boulevard October 22 and 28 from 2 to 10 p. m. Glendale club members are cordially invited to attend.

In making griddle cakes of any kind do not add the baking powder till just as you cook them. The cakes will be much lighter if this plan is followed.

TROPICO

Mrs. D. H. Imler of Palm Villa, accompanied by her daughter, Margery, and son, Eugene, left on the Yale Sunday for San Francisco.

Miss Cora Hickman sailed on the same boat and will be in attendance at the big Eastern Star conclave in 'Frisco, while Mrs. Imler and family are doing the fair. Earlier in the summer Mrs. Imler and her children were guests of the W. C. Calhouns in San Diego and had a most delightful visit to the southern exposition.

Mrs. E. H. Weston is entertaining Mrs. William Marsh Burns of Chicago, who with her son and daughter, Treat and Betty, will be guests in this charming home for a week or more, and Mrs. Weston is planning many pleasant affairs for them.

The Misses Anna and Elsie Anderson of Virginia place were the over Sunday guests of the Misses Mount of Los Angeles where they gave a farewell dinner for Mrs. Mary Kemper and Miss Nora Mount who are leaving shortly for a lengthy visit to San Francisco and the fair.

A "witch wedding"—what a thrilly, shivery feeling that does give one. Surely if one has any curiosity, any love of adventure, to say nothing of superstition, one just could not help being interested in the mere announcement that there is to be a "Witch Wedding" on Tuesday, Oct. 19, at 8 p. m. in the social hall of the Methodist church. One does not need to be told that it will be interesting and the Ladies' Aid, under the direction of Mrs. Melvina Rose, are extending a very cordial invitation to the public to be present. Of course there will be refreshments in keeping with the nature of the evening's entertainment, perhaps "Witch's stew" or "demon's brew."

This affair is one of the regular monthly dime socials which the Aid society has made such a feature of the social life of the church.

Miss Carol Duncan spent the week end visiting relatives and friends including Dr. A. M. Duncan and Mrs. Elizabeth Hillman.

On next Thursday evening, October 21, the Parent-Teacher associations of the Tropico, Acacia, Magnolia and Park avenue schools will hold a reception for the teachers at the Tropico schoolhouse. The parents of all children attending these schools are cordially invited to be present and bring their friends. There will be an entertaining program and a pleasant social evening.

MOTHERS' CLUB MEETS

The Mothers' club of the Acacia street school of Tropico met in the principal's room last Friday for the first program of the year. Much excellent work was planned.

Officers of the club are Mrs. R. S. Todd, president; Mrs. Edward Strong, vice president; Mrs. W. C. Wattles, secretary; Miss Mae Cornwell, treasurer.

Committees are: Program, Mrs. W. C. Wattles, chairman; Mrs. A. J. Frankland, Mrs. H. Meager.

Reception—Mrs. Ed. Ayers, chairman; Mrs. H. W. Fleming, Mrs. Peter Ferry.

Refreshments—Mrs. George Ballentine, chairman; Mrs. A. Baum, Mrs. Charles Gilmore.

Membership—Mrs. Herman Melrose, chairman; Mrs. O. P. Martin, Mrs. Burt Roberts.

Dr. C. C. Noble of Los Angeles gave an interesting talk on the care of children's teeth and Mrs. Meager gave a splendid reading, which were greatly appreciated by a very large attendance.

With such an excellent corps of ladies to assist, the club promises to be exceedingly popular and will give opportunity for forming acquaintances and friendships.

Entire freedom from Colds and Grippe
Did you ever wonder why people seldom have colds or grippe in summer
There are just as many drafts—just as frequent changes in temperature then. And these are what cause colds and influenza.
But not when you are well or when you can exercise freely in the open air and sunshine of outdoors and have every window wide open when you sleep.
In winter this is impossible. Bad weather cuts down exercise. The windows are closed. The life is burned out of the air we breathe, by stove or furnace. And we get "run down" and "out of sorts" and in just the condition to quickly take cold or grippe or other disease and have it hard.
If we could live all year in summer conditions we need never fear these dreaded troubles. Sunshine and the oxygen of outdoors is the best precaution.
The next best thing is to get a bottle of
No. 170
It is simply wonderful how you begin to feel brighter, better, more cheerful—how much easier it is to laugh—almost from the first spoonful.
No. 170 does all of this.
Get a bottle today and begin to feel younger tomorrow.

SUNLAND AND LITTLELANDS

A. J. Richardson, who recently purchased the Monte Vista Valley Garage, has now moved to the Valley with his family. Mr. Richardson is from the state of Arizona and expects to do a plumbing and electric light fixture business in addition to garage work.

Mrs. Bertha Bates of Glen Oak and Miss Nima McMillan entertain at a week-end party tonight (Friday) at Seal Beach. Guests from this vicinity are Joe Forester, Earl Sims, Ed Thomas, Miss Nan Clark, Miss Mildred Corey and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Whittaker.

Vocal and Instrumental Concert

At Wellscroft last Saturday evening a concert was given under the auspices of the Monte Vista Valley band. This was the first appearance of the orchestra. The program rendered was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

The musicale by Miss Methfersel assisted by Mrs. Dunn, which was deferred last Saturday evening on account of the band concert, will occur at the clubhouse next Saturday evening. Admission 25c, children 10c.

A number of the ladies of Littlelands took their luncheon and went on a hike Tuesday morning. Mrs. Darlintogn, Mrs. Fairfield, Mrs. Dean and Mrs. Woodruff and Miss Gilmore were in the party.

Miss H. L. McKee spent several days last week with friends in Culver City. On her way home she stopped at Pasadena and took luncheon with her old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Treat and family. These friends were formerly residents of Pennsylvania where Miss McKee used to live

Monday evening, Mrs. Fairfield, chairman of the committee on co-ordination, called a meeting at her home on Stephens Way of the chairmen of all the committees. Another committee was added to the already long list, that of the industrial branch. Mr. Lamson was appointed chairman of the industrial committee. The work of the different committees was freely and informally discussed. A number of assistants were named.

A large per cent of the members of the Sunland Chamber of Commerce and a number of representatives of the Littlelands Board of Trade and a number of invited guests —in all about seventy-five local boosters—dedicated the new barbecue oven at the Park Monday evening with a big barbecue. A grand feast was enjoyed, and the hours between 5 and 9 p. m. were quickly passed by speeches, toasts, etc. Among the speakers of the evening were M. V. Hartranft, A. D. Kirschman, Capt. Cushman and Fred M. Ashby. The gentlemen in charge of the building of the oven, namely, Ross Drake, A. D. Kirschman, Joseph Spencer and Mr. Dano, were highly complimented and thanked for their work.

Town Meeting

The interest of the town meeting Tuesday evening centered on the improvement of roads, especially the roads in and adjacent to Littlelands. The people have grown tired and disgusted with the condition of the roads. We pay 40 cents on the $100 just the same as other citizens of Los Angeles county, but our proportion is expended elsewhere. It must be so because we do not nor have we been given the improvements commensurate with our taxation. It seemed to be the sense of this meeting not to vote for the $2,800,000 bond issue on the 26th of this month for the improvement of mountain roads. Dr. Kearney and Mr. W. H. Wieman each expressed thoughts pertinent to this subject. What is needed is the improvement of roads in the country where the people are a'ready settled. The improvement of roads to mountain peaks for the benefit of tourists may well wait till more of the local roads are put into a decent condition, not to express it in any stronger language. There should be appropriated at the present time about $1500 for road improvement in Littlelands.

Mr. Green and Mr. Darlington each gave interesting information on pruning and irrigation of citrus and deciduous trees.

It was announced that G. H. Maxwell will not be present at the Friday night meetings till the 22d of the present month.

PANTALETS IN VIEW

OLD-STYLE GIRL HAS ARRIVED WITH HOOPS, MITTS AND BUSTLES

This year's type of girl is the daguerreotype, hoops, mitts, bustles and pantalets—not a thing missing.

For two or three seasons now there has been a threat of pantalets in the offing, but they have made very few appearances in the "oning" as 'twere. This year it really looks as if they were going to hang on to the lower limbs of some of our very best family trees, however.

They are really most attractive, these 1915 pantalets. Those for wear with street and daytime frocks are almost as wide and voluminous as divided skirts. To go with the smart fur-banded gowns now so popular the pantalets are also finished with a band of fur around the ankles and sometimes a ruching of the material is used below the fur.

Charming lace and net pantalets like those we saw occasionally last season are for wear with the fluffy dance frocks whose skirts are almost as short and bouffant as those of a belle of the ballet. A new note is struck in evening pantalets by a striking model of silk cut like the straight long pants of a Chinese belle and banded with gold or silver galloon as a finish.

Speaking of galloon a novel use of this metallic banding is shown on a model evening frock worn in Marie Tempest's present play. It is a gown of Pompadour silk with a tight bodice and over the full, extremely full, and short, extremely short, skirt is an even fuller overskirt of white tulle finished with aband of silver galloon around the hem caught here and there with tiny artificial nosegays. The stiff galloon acts delightfully in lieu of wire to give that desirable crinoline effect.

For yes indeedy, though we aren't wearing the real old-fashioned hoops yet we are getting the same results with less bulky and more sanitary contraptions, mostly wire.

While most of the wiring is done around the hem of the full short skirts, yet another effect is obtained by wiring out sideways over the hips. This builds you out sideways like Velesquez's celebrated portrait of the Spanish Infanta.

If you don't care for these side extensions however fashion is most elastic this year and allows a rear extension with equal impunity.

It's the good old bustle again of course, brought up to date by being formed of rippling folds of skirt back breadths. This back draped bustle effect is much favored on formal evening gowns of heavy satin or velvet that are very decollete and long of train.

Quite the most reminiscent of dear old granny's youth is a model jacket suit of black and red wool plaid. It has a short full skirt and little short full jacket which once removed reveals to startled modern eyes a little low necked waist of the plaid absolutely sleeveles save for tiny caplike puffs of the plaid over each shoulder. With this sleeveless daytime gown are worn quaint kid gloves reaching midway of the forearm and laced up the side.

These side laced gloves are quite the newest feature at hand and are worn with every sort of daytime toilette. Black lace mitts are also permitted with dressy afternoon frocks. Though the gloves are laced they aren't lace you understand, whereas the mitts are not laced but are lace.

The little top hats worn over one eye, the flowing window curtain veils, the little round muffs and rippling shoulder capes of fur, the extra high buttoned boots for day wear and the ribbon laced cothurns for evening are all old stuff lifted from the heydey of our granddames' youth.

Quite the only thing we seem to have overlooked in our wholesale copying is of course what would have profited us the most—meaning of course her lovely old-world tact and courtesy.

PRINCESSES WORK FOR POOR

In the front rank of the Roman economic army fighting hunger are two American girls now married into noble Russian houses.

Princess Torlonia, formerly Elsie Moore, daughter of Charles A. Moore of New York, and Princess San Faustino, formerly Mabel Campbell of New York are two of the most active workers for the "cucine economiche" or economical kitchens where the poor of Rome are fed.

Since the entrance of Italy into the war the necessity of these stations where the poor, armed with tickets, may gain wholesome food, has become vital. For the families of men at arms and other dependents, have greatly increased.

The two American princesses have turned thousands of American dollars into food for hungry Italians.

TO SPEAK ROUND EARTH

J. J. Carty, A. T. & T. chief engineer, dreamer of dreams that come true (he perfected the wireless phone through which Washington officials recently talked 5000 miles from the capitol to Hawaii and with which the human voice may some day circle the globe) gave an interview to a representative of the United Press.

Some day, he opined Bill Smith may sit in his office in New York, Chicago, Seattle or San Francisco, ring up across the continent on the wire and be connected with the wireless telephone to Tokyo.

From New York that is about 8,000 miles.

But Bill Smith won't be able to use a wireless telephone to talk to Tom Jones down in another office building in the same town. The wireless isn't meant for that, and it won't supplant the telephone or the wireless telegraph.

The little man with the black hair, just tinging with gray and the sharp black eyes peering out from under shaggy eyebrows, sat in the temporary office of the A. T. & T. Co. in San Francisco and discussed his dream of talking across the continent and thence to Hawaii which had just come true.

He personally had made wireless telephony a commercial possibility, but it was of his company that he spoke—scarcely ever "I."

"We don't expect that there'll be such a thing as carrying a pocket phone around and connecting up with anybody anywhere in the world," he said.

"What we do expect, though, is that the wireless telephone will be available for ships, and particularly for small craft, so that one may talk to the other or to the shore.

"It is easier to talk wirelessly over water than over land, and while we have talked across the continent, we think the practical outcome will be that the man, say in New York, will talk across the continent by wire and be connected with the wireless. I think it will be possible for him in this way to talk to Tokyo. The real development, however, we expect to be on ships.

"You see its very easy to talk across the continent now," he said, putting up a connection between the United Press offices in New York and San Francisco for the correspondent. It was very easy, just like talking through an open door to a man in the hallway.

That, however will be stretched out so that it spans lands and oceans. The feat accomplished in talking from New York to San Francisco and Hawaii, he pointed out, makes it a certainty that one may talk to Europe.

There are three main reasons, as Carty explained it, why wireless telephony cannot come into general use, that is, supplant the usual commercial telephone:: First, a great roar that spreads through the ether and transfers to the wireless set; second, the lack of secrecy; and third, the inability to spread so many communications on one "line" as can be done with the wire system.

The roar he expects will be overcome to some extent. He has found he can hear clearly in talking to New York, but there are static interruptions. He is now working to smooth out this difficulty also on completing the system of response.

On his original tests there was transmission in only one direction, but Carty is now working out both sending and receiving instruments.

Carty has other ideas back of those keen, black eyes. But he isn't telling them. "What do you think will be the next great achievement in science?" he was asked. "I wonder," he mused, "Science has made great steps, hasn't it?"
